This weekend, there is nothing much to report in regards to the Renew My Church process except to remind us of the dates for the Renew My Church 101 informational gatherings:

Sunday, April 28th, 2019 at 12:30 p.m. at St. Timothy 6332 N. Washtenaw
OR

Sunday, May 5th, 2019 at 3:00 p.m. at St. Henry 6335 N. Hoyne Ave.

Since that is all to report, I wanted to take a break and focus on the holiest week of our faith.

This Palm Sunday, we hear Luke's version of the last moments of Jesus' life. If we listen very carefully to the Passion narrative this weekend, we will discover the roots of the fifth and eighth stations in the traditional Way of the Cross—Simon of Cyrene and Jesus' encounter with the women of Jerusalem.

First, who was Simon of Cyrene? The gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke all mention that a man named Simon from Cyrene was pressed into carrying the cross of Jesus.

Cyrene was located in North Africa and was a major center of Judaism in the time of Jesus. Simon was most likely Jewish himself and was in Jerusalem for Passover. Mark's gospel indicates that Simon was the father of Alexander and Rufus. There is speculation that Simon was the father of the Rufus who was mentioned in St. Paul's letter to the Romans. Yet, other than those vague details, we know nothing about Simon of Cyrene.

We know even less about the women following behind Jesus whom Jesus addressed as "Daughters of Jerusalem" telling them not to weep for him but weep, rather, for themselves and for their children. Presumably, these women were also Jewish and either were residents of Jerusalem or had come to the city for Passover. We might rightly assume as well that they were disciples of Jesus at whatever level. Still, we know nothing more about these women except that they lamented Jesus (or in some translations it was said that they were "wailing and beating their breasts").

The gospel of Luke has been described as an inclusive gospel. Meaning, Luke juxtaposes an example of a man with an example of a woman. For example, in the story of the birth of John the Baptist, Luke first tells of how John's father Zachariah received the message of an angel but doubted. Then, Luke recounts the story of Mary and how she fully embraced the message of the Archangel Gabriel. Sometimes, Luke shows how the response of women was the better example of discipleship than that of the men. Perhaps, this is the reason why Luke mentions the women of Jerusalem together with Simon of Cyrene. But, we may never really know the exact reason why Luke included both of them in his gospel. What we can do, though, is use them to imagine ourselves in the story.

What might have been going on in the mind of Simon as he carried the cross of Jesus? We might expect that he may have felt inconvenienced by it. After all, he was just minding his own business when all of a sudden he found himself the unwilling bearer of an instrument of torture. Did he end up resenting the fact that he was made to carry the cross? Did he eventually find joy in it and then became a follower of Jesus encouraging his own sons to do the same? We may never know for certain but we can put ourselves into the story and ask ourselves the same questions. Do we find following the way of Jesus to be an inconvenience or do we find joy in it ourselves?

Jesus' words to the women of Jerusalem become food for thought for us especially as we begin this Holy Week. He told them not to weep for him but to weep for themselves and for their children. Jesus' words can be interpreted as meaning that these women and their children had a worse condition than his. Yet, what did they do after hearing Jesus speak to them? Did they look at their lives and weep even more? For us, if we put ourselves into the story, we can ask if Jesus' words move us to lament the sinful mistakes of the past and motivate us to follow behind Jesus as different people?

As we enter into this holiest week of our faith, let us take the time to put ourselves into the story of Jesus' life. How will we respond? Who will we be in the story? Those are the questions that only we can answer. Let us take this week to answer them for ourselves and for the sake of future disciples who will learn to follow behind Jesus inspired by our own example.

FR. HAL'S SPRING SCRIPTURE PROGRAM

The Spring Scripture Program will begin on April 23rd, the Tuesday after Easter. Our text will be Genesis 12-23: Abraham and Sarah's Journey. We will follow the story of Abraham and Sarah, the first couple whose lives are recounted in the Old Testament. This ancient couple can be considered our grandparents in our Faith. We who are followers of Abraham and Sarah's descendant, JESUS, can regard them as our ancestors. The Catholic Catechism calls Abraham "the father of all believers."

We will also study how the stories of this ancient couple and their families evolved from oral histories into written histories, a process which took centuries.

The Program will begin on Tuesday, April 23rd and conclude on June 4th. Each class will meet from 7:00pm until 8:30pm. We will meet in McCarthy Hall, the meeting room on the first floor of the former convent building.

There is no charge for this program, and the parish will provide the text books. If you are interested, please register before April 22nd by calling either Julie Kent or Fr. Hal Murphy at 773-764-0615. This program is an opportunity to come to know our "grandparents in our Faith!" Come, join us

CYCLES OF FAITH

Palm Sunday of the Passion of the Lord

Palm Sunday is a strange day in our liturgical calendar. We begin by waving palms, but somewhere in the middle, we call for Jesus to be crucified. We celebrate today an equally paradoxical God, one who comes to save through suffering.

"I tell you, if they keep silent, the stones will cry out!" Jesus, who so often in the Gospels tries to hide his true identity, speaks thunderously to the Pharisees who would still the rejoicing crowd. At the Last Supper, Jesus confirms the Messianic promise to his disciples, saying "I confer a kingdom on you, just as my Father has conferred one on me." Yet, before the night is over, Jesus has been betrayed.

We hear the tragedy unfold in Luke's Passion narrative. Jesus is abused by the council of elders, denied by Peter, whipped by Roman soldiers, and condemned to death by Pilate. But what else do we see? Jesus heals someone who came to arrest him, forgives his torturers, promises a repentant man paradise, and - by his loving endurance - converts a centurion at the foot of the cross. Jesus is both Redeemer of the World and Suffering Servant. In taking on the mantle of Messiah, Jesus does not only receive our praise and our accolades, but he bears our burdens and sins and does so with the deepest love. He may go about our salvation in a paradoxical way, but he is dearer to our own suffering hearts for it. This week, we remember that no sorrow of our own is beyond the reach of the compassion of God.
