Silence. If we are to be honest with ourselves, it bothers a good number of us. For those of us who have every tried to sit in silence for at least one full minute, several things might happen. For one, we might become easily distracted by any noise after about five seconds. We might find ourselves becoming so antsy that we find it hard to sit still let alone remain quiet. Then, our minds might wander and begin to worry about the things we have to do. Yet, as much as we might fear silence or avoid it, silence is extremely key in our relationship with God because it is in silence that God speaks to us.

We might think, though, that we do not have enough time to be in silent prayer. However, it is not because we lack the time to be in silence. Rather, it is because we do not allow ourselves the luxury of being in silence. Silence does not necessarily mean the absence of noise. It can simply mean the undisturbed act of focusing our attention to the God who comes to us in the quiet of our hearts. This type of silence has a calming effect. At our most peaceful state, we will actually begin to hear more clearly and more powerfully the voice of God speaking to us, letting us know what He desires of us. We need those moments of silence in order to cultivate that ability to discern the will of God in our lives. This is what I would like us to concentrate on during this season of Lent as a parish wide practice.

For this very reason, the Liturgy Board and I have decided that during the season of Lent, we will have moments of profound silence both at the start and at the end of our Sunday liturgies. We have chosen these two moments for specific reasons.

First, the instructions to the Mass actually call for a period of profound silence prior to the start of Mass. It allows us to prepare ourselves interiorly by putting ourselves in the mindset needed to begin to listen to the voice of God. The way we will do this is through the chime of the handbells. Members of the music ministry will lead the opening procession by the soft chime of the handbells. Once the ministers reach the front of the sanctuary, the music ministers will lead us in a simple sung refrain. This will take the place of the opening hymn.

Secondly, we will have another moment of profound silence at the very end of the Mass. Rather than conclude Mass with a closing hymn, the ministers will exit the sanctuary in another moment of profound silence which may be accompanied once again by the soft chime of the handbells. The Liturgy Board and I decided on this moment as well because silence is oftentimes needed at the very end of our time of prayer.

As we may have noticed, though, here at the parish there has been the tendency to applaud at the conclusion of the final hymn. Although we know that it is a sign of gratitude, applauding at the end of Mass can lead to the wrong understanding that we came to Mass to be entertained. It then makes the ministers and the choir into the “actors” in the play while the people in the congregation would be the “audience.” In the Mass, there are no actors and audience. Whether we are in the sanctuary, the choir area, or even in the pews, we are all ministers exercising a specific ministry in order to help everyone to pray and hear the voice of God. Applauding sometimes causes a confusion in understanding why we came together in the Eucharist in the first place.

We would like the parish as a whole to refrain from that during the season of Lent in order to give ourselves the moment to interiorize the message that God just gave to each of us during the celebration of the Eucharist. The silence may seem jarring and may even be uncomfortable but it is a moment that we can spend in reflection which then allows us the ability to discern what God just wanted to tell us.

Again, we are not discouraging the conversation and camaraderie that parishioners oftentimes engage in after Mass. We are just asking that we observe a moment of profound silence immediately before and after the Mass. Hopefully, we will journey through Lent to Easter much more aware of the fact that we come to Mass primarily to hear the Word of God and then go into the world living out the Word that has been spoken to us.

1000 PAPER CRANES...

is our current project for the spring. Sadako Sasaki survived the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, but at age 11 she was diagnosed with leukemia. In the hospital, Sadako folded Origami Paper Cranes. There is a legend that if you fold a 1000 paper cranes, your wish will come true. Sadako wanted to get well, but she was also wishing for Peace in the World. She died at age 12, but her legacy endures.

Do you fold Origami ? and do you have paper ? gift paper is good. Let us know.

Our world is so in need of peace.

ANGEL CLOSET

As spring approaches we are preparing to celebrate First Communion and Confirmation with our children and teens. Do you have clothes that your children have outgrown ? We already have a donation and if you would like to donate a dress, veil, a suit jacket, or shoes, please bring them to the rectory during office hours. Dresses for Confirmation can be any color.

CYCLES OF FAITH

7th Sunday in Ordinary Time

The Gospels continue to challenge us to the core. This is especially true in the way our social relationships have developed. Feeling safe and secure in the world are not things that come easily these days. Actually, we may find ourselves feeling more reservation, caution, reluctance, and fear than ever before. In a moment's notice, life can drastically change. When someone has been intentionally and violently hurt, especially someone we love, we can all too easily find ourselves very attracted to the Old Testament philosophy of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth."

Intellectually, we know this is not what Jesus wants us to do. But on some level it just seems to make practical or even political sense. After all, why should we allow someone to get away with a heinously violent act? Yet, Jesus cannot be any clearer than he is with this! Offer no resistance to one who is evil. Turn the other cheek as well. When pressed into service, go two miles. Do not turn your back on one who wants to borrow. Love your enemies. Now, take a moment to reflect on all of this. Consider a horrible act of violence committed against someone you love. Listen. Think. Be honest. Can you do as Jesus directs?

We want to be holy. But we are more comfortable with a definition of holiness that can keep us saying our prayers and on our knees in church. We are not comfortable with a definition of holiness that has something to say about to how we react to and negotiate life. We like to keep a sharp and strong line between the secular and the sacred. In fact, we would prefer that the doors between them be kept closed. God wants us to be holy as He is holy. If God sees this one way and we see it another, then where does this leave us on our journey to God?

Our minds like the practical, worldly, and secular answers to things. They are more black and white and at first glance appear to make more sense. Holiness wells up from our souls and is beyond reason. It cannot be explained. It is something we just simply know comes as a result of deep prayer. The truly contemplative eye knows inwardly that what Jesus asks is true and then willingly does it. It may not be easy.

"During this Lent,
let us all ask the Lord:
Make our hearts like yours."

-Pope Francis
